Design and Access Statement

Introduction

The Planning application to which this Design and Access Statement relates comprises removal of double doors to the exterior facade. These will be replaced in full with new glazing to match adjoining panels.

Inclusive Design Criteria Adopted

The design needs of a wide range of people must be considered. Parents with young children, older people, and disabled people are all groups of people that can be disadvantaged by the way in which environments are designed and management issues are dealt with.

Inclusive design works to eliminate barriers many people face and to create a user-friendly environment where all people can function with equal ease.

Zara recognises their responsibility as a service provider under the DDA, and the need for their service to be accessible.

Zara's governing policy and philosophy is to provide full customer service in a friendly, accessible to all design.

This is demonstrated through the design of the stores, and through the training given to, and subsequent service provided by the store staff.

Design Statement

The main proposed changes to the façade to the building are limited to removal of double doors which will be replaced in full with new glazing to match adjoining panels. This will include low level stainless steel stall riser. Exterior finishes made good and level.
