

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1840 s. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas, these maps were used to update the 1:10,560 maps. The published date given therefore is often some years later than the surveyed date. Before 1936, all OS maps were based on the Cassini Projection, with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas. In 1940, a new datum was introduced, the maps were updated to the 1:10,560 mapping for a number of sources. The maps were produced unfinished - with all military camps and other strategic sites removed. These maps were initially overprinted with the National Grid. In 1970, the first 1:10,000 maps were produced using the Transverse Mercator Projection. The revision process continued until recently, with new editions appearing every 10 years or so for urban areas.
