Comment Reasons:

Comment:I think this will be a fantastic addition to the big city of the north, if it is run anything like etihad stadium then this will be the best arena in the north, possibly the Whole UK. This will really bring in more tourism to Manchester and also give out more jobs and I just think why hasn't this already been done. Being an hours drive away from Manchester another arena will certainly mean more opportunities for myself and family to attend events at this upcoming arena and when artists tour they will be more chance that they will choose this arena as a host instead of having to travel to Birmingham or London for a show I'd like to attend.

Manchester needs a second arena, it will really put itself on the map with other multiple arena city's.
