Comment Reasons:

Comment: I don't see the need for another stadium / music venue in Manchester when Manchester Arena has supported the city for years without fail, and is a fantastic venue.

If an artist wants to play stadium tours they tend to do that in the Etihad over the summer when football is not on or the Old Trafford ground. It seems a waste of money to replicate things we already have, and increase congestion around this area which already has a heavy footfall especially when football is on.

The money is better spent elsewhere improving local areas for residents . If you build this then either this will fail or the Arena will collapse and then it's just another empty venue costing thousands with no purpose.
