F-SECTION

This profile is used where larger or stronger fixings are required. The additional fixing plate provides the space needed for fixing the frame to the mounting surface. This section is more tailored for use on outdoor sites like exterior walls, larger signage frames and rigid truck bodies. It can also be used to convert existing signage frames to a flexface system.

PVC TENSION STRIP

This device is inserted into the aluminum frame to fix the flexible substrate in position and simultaneously create the tension required. It is available in standard colours: black, white, blue, green, red and silver. Alternative RAL colours are available on request with minimum order quantities.
