Open green land in Manchester is precious. Being a city of the Industrial Revolution land was squeezed without care for the health of people so now the opportunity to remodel an old waste tip into something of a green lung must not be missed. The health of Manchester people is not limited to those that live nearby but all those that visit from near and far to take in nature. You do not get health and well being from a housing estate, in fact the opposite.

The application represents a benefit for all and should be supported if we are to care for populations now and into the future.

This is a fine example of people who elect our councils giving a strong lead to those that represent as to what the future sustainability of a community and beyond need to sustain a vibrant city.
