Comment Reasons:
Comment:Building of high rise flats was not part of the original plans. The developers promised houses that would be in keeping with existing homes. They promised shops for local retailers, a range of homes and more parking spaces which is already difficult. Where is the infrastructure to meet the demand for this many flats? If this had been the original vision there would have been complaints!! Interesting that the developers haven't sent updates to individual homes like they were doing last year. Why not?
