Comment Reasons:

Comment: The consultation process about this development of a critically important site in central Chorlton has been a sham. People have made it clear that they wanted some or all of the shops to be given spaces in the new centre. Instead there only about half the previous number of retail places, there are no houses just flats. The sheer size of these blocks is totally against the need for a human scale Chorlton centre. A suburban area like ours is not the city centre. You are stealing our sky! You are just using the fact that people in Chorlton are fed up with waiting for a decent re-development and so will put up with a greedy, profit-above-all-else scheme as better than nothing. It is cynical and unacceptable. You should be ashamed of yourselves
