John,

Holly Royde Close Manchester M20 3HR - 143337/TPO/2025

T1 horse chestnut- reduce 6 heavy limbs by 2.5m to reduce the weight these limbs are growing larger than the top and are becoming very heavy

This is a magnificent tree and should be pruned carefully and inline with BS:3998.

In the event that there are no suitable growing points to prune to, I would suggest that the end weight on the limbs are thinned to achieve the same goal.

I can confirm that we would have no objection to the proposed end weight reductions to reduce the risk of limb failure and ensure the tree does not lose any major limbs.

Kind regards
