Comment Reasons:

Comment: Looks amazing.

Chorlton has incredibly expensive homes & a struggling high street, except for a few nice bits. This development will help with both of those problems.

Young people would prefer to live in these versus an HMO, which allows semidetached houses to go back to being for families rather than 6 young professionals.

The big scary tower block is where Graeme house was - so not even noticeable from most angles. the rest of the blocks are barely taller than a large tree.

This is absolutely needed and will be loved by all in 10 years.

A few rich homeowner nimbys opposing it should not put a stop to 500+ people's new homes.
