Comment: Something More Productive has become a real community asset in the relatively short time it's been open. This property has been through various guises (I have known it since it was Deco Records), and it would be awful to see another well-loved business fail in this spot. It's always a great friendly atmosphere and brings something reminiscent of a European cafe style to the village.

I live only a couple of streets away and often pass it on a night, and it's great to see it so popular. There has never been any trouble or disturbances there that I know of, and adds to a vibrant area in a really unique way. Allowing the extension of opening hours will help this business to thrive after a period of the property being empty - something I'm sure no one would want to see again.
