Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☑ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Amendments Summary

Thank you for reviewing my application and for your feedback. I wanted to address the concerns raised about the accuracy of the existing and proposed drawings.

The main issue seems to be that the images on Google Street View are quite outdated,they were taken in 2015, nearly ten years ago. Since then, a kitchen extension has been added to the house, which isn't visible in those images. This might explain why the drawings don't seem to match what's shown on Google Maps. I'd suggest looking at Google Satellite View instead if possible, as it gives a more recent aerial view of the property.

To make sure everything is correct, I've now hired a qualified agricultural engineer to produce updated, to-scale drawings that accurately reflect both the current house and the proposed changes. These should resolve any issues with the previous plans not aligning properly.

Please let me know if you need anything else or if there's anything further I can do. I appreciate your time and look forward to hearing back.
