Architectural site section drawing showing a cross-section of a building and its surroundings. The drawing includes a red line representing the ground profile, a blue line representing the building's floor level, and a black line representing the building's structure. The building is a two-story structure with a gabled roof and a central entrance. The drawing is labeled "SITE SECTION 03 - 1:100@A1" and includes a north arrow pointing towards the top right.

This architectural elevation drawing shows a row of residential buildings. A prominent red line runs horizontally across the lower portion of the image, likely representing a ground level or a boundary. The buildings are depicted with various rooflines, windows, and doors. The drawing includes numerous dimension lines and numerical values, such as 101.500, 101.550, 101.700, 101.850, 102.750, and 103.700, which are used to specify heights and levels. The drawing is a technical representation of a building's exterior, showing details like windows, doors, and rooflines.
