

The builder must check the site and the approved drawings before commencing the works and must take any working measurements as necessary. Any discrepancy in the drawing must be reported to the client.

[illegible]