Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Comment Reasons:

Comment: The considerable increase in traffic at an already busy crossroads and surrounding area. It is expected there will be as much as an extra 200 journeys in peak hours compared to current.

The wholly inappropriate nature of the site given the immediate vicinity of 4 schools with 3600 pupils and the close proximity of other schools - a locality with 6000 - 7000 pupils. The x roads in akin to an educational campus - with a dual carriage way and a tram track in the middle of it and loads of very young kids - who constantly barge about and run into the middle of the road.

The lack of demonstration of infrastructure or control in managing the attraction of such a site to young people and the potential challenges in the middle of a large educational cluster.

The risk to safety of school children in an area similar in nature to an educational campus in a vicinity that is already a safety and welfare challenge for pedestrians.

This development doesn't appear aligned with Manchester City Council's wider strategic initiatives such as the Chorlton Framework, air quality or travel plan initiatives.

The design of the site is inappropriate given its vehicular access on Nell Lane and also features that are not in keeping with Hough End Hall.

Advertising posters at the side of the store are not in keeping with Hough End Hall - they are tacky and poor taste.

The missing information in the application, unrealistic assumptions and failure to properly consider impacts on the neighbourhood.

The road Nell Lane/ St Werburgh's Road - even though resurfaced only recently is already cut up - very poor quality tarmac. Cannot withstand more traffic.
