I live on St Werburghs Rd, very close to Chorlton High School and the proposed Lidl.

This area already suffers from complex traffic problems. Roads and pavements are very busy during school opening and closing times. There is large scale congestion, poor air quality and dangers to the many children accessing local schools.

I would not object to a neighbourhood or convenience store but Lidl are looking to build a supermarket with around 90 parking spaces for staff and customers. This will create many new car journeys and divert others onto residential roads (as the documents confirm). This area is important for active travel to the four local schools, Chorlton Park etc. Making the roads busier will discourage cycling and work against efforts by Chorlton High to encourage students to use active travel.
