Comment: I've lived on St Werburghs Road for over 22 years and my daughter attended school at Chorlton High. The planning application for a Lidl foodstore close to not only Chorlton High but three other schools fills me with dismay. Nell Lane and St Werburghs Road are already very busy roads and a series of accidents have occurred here, most recently on January 12 this year. The presence of a new supermarket close to so many schools will only increase traffic and increase the danger to thousands of local schoolchildren.

On top of that, the additional pollution and congestion will have an adverse environmental impact on an area that was supposed to be taking more heed of the needs of cyclists and pedestrians. My objections are not against a supermarket in itself but rather its particular location. This seems ill thought through.
