We wish to penetrate/remove approx 0.89m2 of the existing timber suspended ground floor - to add a new dumb waiter lift from the existing basement kitchen to service the new kitchen on the ground floor.
We also would like to form an opening in the ground floor rear window of approx 0.25m2 to link into the existing external basement ventilation flue, so we can have adequate extract to the new kitchen.

Why is it necessary to demolish or extend (as applicable) all or part of the building(s) and or structure(s)?

Floor penetration's/removal: We wish to make the restaurant operations safer and more accessible from the existing basement kitchen to the new ground floor kitchen with regards food delivery, safety and service. The ground floor kitchen will also serve the basement with hot food.

Window Penetration's/removal: We wish to connect the new kitchen extract on the ground floor with the existing kitchen extract in the basement, so that we are utilizing existing equipment/ducting and not forming new ductwork and extract ventilation on the roof and side of the building. This not changing the appearance of the building.
