

Post Occupancy Evaluation

The venue is not planning to commission a specific Post Occupancy Evaluation.

The building and operational team are going through an iterative process of continual review and improvement following events – there is a detailed planning and debrief exercise for every event and the planning for subsequent events builds on these improvements and modified operational practices.

The building team will be working with a specialist engineering company once the BMS is fully operational to review energy usage and to increase the building efficiency.

There has already been improvements made over the first 12 months reducing energy usage, increasing recycling rates and reducing waste. There are financial and operational targets in place for the senior management team across key aspects of the building performance.
