

Clayton Hall – Visual Audit Site Visit

A site visit to Clayton Hall was conducted on Friday 3rd October. The site visit was carried out to establish which fence height would best suit the site. There is currently temporary heras fencing installed throughout the perimeter of the site. The temporary fencing is installed to a height of 2 meters, and since the installation there has been no reports of people accessing the site in order to carry out criminal damage and anti-social behaviour. However, it should be noted that due to the temporary nature of the fencing, panels have been lifted out of the post holder and damaged. There is an evidence base to suggest that since the temporary fencing has been installed, anti-social behaviour taking place around Clayton Hall and the grounds has reduced significantly; therefore, it would be my recommendation to install the fencing which is 2.1m in height. This would support the security of the site and decrease the likelihood of anti-social behaviour reoccurring.
