Hi Lucy

Please see Curtin's response to ATE below:

'The provision of cycle infrastructure as part of the Proposed Development is consistent with the overall cycle strategy discussed with MCC Highways and TfGM. It is noted that Great Jackson Street will only accommodate local cycle traffic, primarily related with cyclists living in the residential buildings along Great Jackson Street. As such, it is proposed to continue as an on-road route, signposted but with no on-road facilities.

As mentioned in Curtin's previous response, given the anticipated low vehicular traffic, it is considered that cyclists can travel safely on the carriageway or along the shared facility recently completed as part of Phase 2, with only a section of Melbourne Street to be shared between cyclists and pedestrians. This short section along Melbourne Street associated with this planning application will primarily be used by cyclists accessing the proposed cycle store at Plot D.

Cyclists travelling to the existing shared bridge over the A57(M) Mancunian Way from the wider cycle network will arrive from Chester Road, and via the shared route recently finished as part of Phase 2 proposals, highlighted below with a green arrow:

The following image shows the recently implemented shared pedestrian/cycle route from Melbourne Street to Chester Road through Phase 2 of the wider Masterplan:

Curtins point remains that the infrastructure proposed is suitable – in line with LTN 1/20 – and also in consistent with the design approach for Phase 2 as shown in the above image.

Paragraph 6.5.6 of LTN 1/20 states that shared use facilities may be appropriate in some situations – if well designed and implemented – and some scenarios are provided (noting that this list is not exhaustive). Whilst details of pedestrian flows are not available on Melbourne Street due to the recent re-opening of the link, Curtins noted in the previous post-application response that the number of cyclists along the proposed shared footway will not surpass the 300 cyclists per hour threshold in the foreseeable future; as such, the infrastructure proposed is therefore suitable.

As such, it is therefore concluded that the proposed cycle and pedestrian facilities are both consistent and suitable for the intended use and are in accordance and consistent with the existing and proposed cycle network.'

I trust this is acceptable

Many thanks

Rachel
